ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION Overview of Grant Process

Economic Development Administration (EDA)

*"The only way to fully restore America's economic strength is to make the long term investments that will lead to new jobs, new industries, and a renewed ability to compete with the rest of the world."
President Barack Obama*

- EDA's mission is to lead the federal economic development agenda by promoting innovation and competitiveness, preparing American regions for growth and success in the worldwide economy.
- EDA provides grants to state and local government, Indian tribes, Economic Development Districts, public and private non-profits, universities and other institutions of higher education to support the development and implementation of economic development strategies for economically distressed communities.

Economic Development Administration (EDA)

- EDA's goal is to encourage private capital investment in the nation's most economically distressed regions, thereby creating and retaining higher-skill, higher-wage jobs.
- EDA accomplishes this goal by awarding grants or cooperative agreements.

EDA Investment Programs

Public Works and Economic Development	Supports the construction, expansion or upgrade of essential public infrastructure and facilities
Economic Adjustment Assistance (EA)	Assists in the design and implementation of strategies (e.g., strategy development, infrastructure construction, revolving loan fund capitalization) in communities and regions that have experienced or are under the threat of serious damage to the underlying economic base
Planning	Assists local and regional organizations (Economic Development Districts, Indian Tribes, and other eligible entities/applicants) with their short and long-term planning efforts
Technical Assistance	Focused assistance provided to public and nonprofit leaders to help in economic development decision making (e.g., project planning, impact analyses, feasibility studies); also includes the University Center Program , which makes the resources of universities available to the economic development community
Research and Evaluation	Supports research of leading-edge economic development practices as well as information dissemination efforts to national audiences
Trade Adjustment Assistance for Firms	Supports a national network of eleven Trade Adjustment Assistance Centers to help communities and regions affected by increased imports prepare and implement strategies to guide their economic recovery
Global Climate Change Mitigation Incentive Fund	Promotes EDA policies and strategies which contribute to sustainable “green” construction and resource conservation

How EDA's Grant Process Works

Project Development

- Regional Consultation (Optional) – Upon request, a representative from the Regional Office will meet with a prospective partner to confirm the eligibility of a proposed project for EDA assistance, provide technical assistance with scoping the EDA project if required, and/or provide information on the application process and forms. Many clients find this beneficial.

Application Submission and Review

- Submission – Applicant submits application online via www.grants.gov or in hardcopy to the EDA Regional Office.
- Eligibility Verification – The Regional Office determines whether the applicant, project type, and project area are eligible for EDA assistance.
- Verification of Fit with EDA Priorities – The Regional Office determines whether the project is consistent with EDA Funding Priorities.
- Investment Review Committee (IRC) Meeting/Regional Director (RD) Decision – IRC in region votes on whether to recommend the project to RD based on its competitiveness vis-à-vis other proposed projects; RD decides whether to recommend the project for further consideration.
- HQ Quality Assurance – If requested assistance > $100,000, HQ QA staff review the RD's recommendation and information provided about the project, including job creation/retention and private investment projections and concur, or don't concur, with the recommendation that the project receive further consideration.

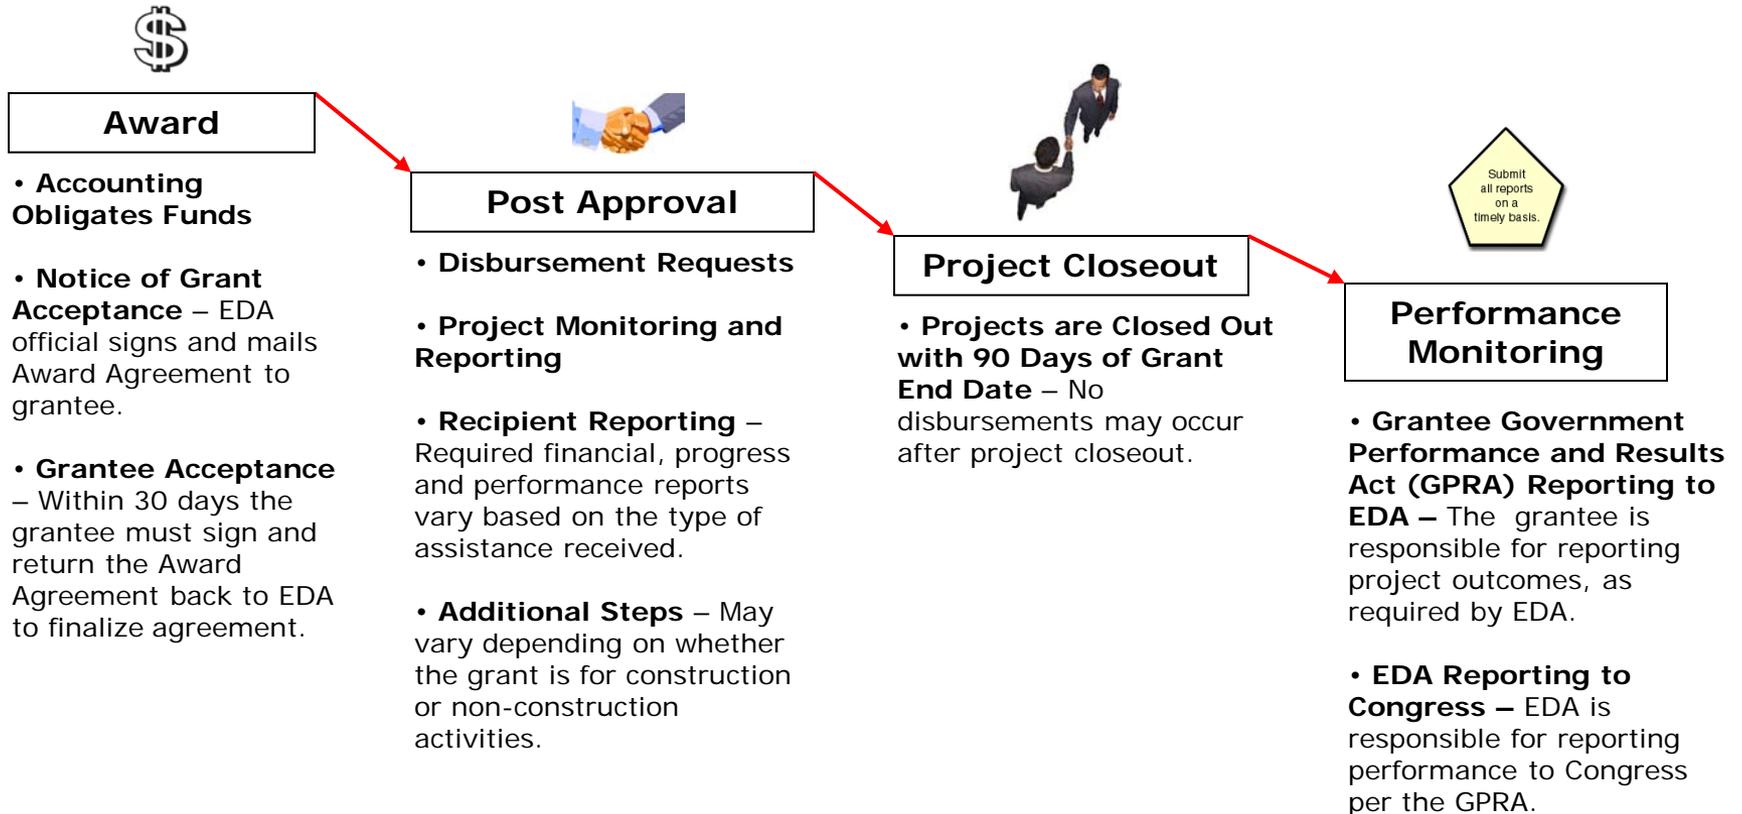

Review of Projects Meriting Further Consideration

- Documentation Request – The Regional Office will request additional supporting materials based on the type of project.
- Regional Office Review of Supporting Materials for Adequacy (Including Historic Preservation and Environmental Compliance)
- Legal Review (For grants of $100,000 or more)

Headquarters Award Processing

- Accounting Reserves Funds
- Preparation of Announcement Package – The package is sent to the Office of Executive Secretariat and External Affairs.

How EDA's Grant Process Works

EDA's Eligibility Criteria

- Eligible recipients include units of state and local government, Indian tribes, Economic Development Districts, public and private non-profits, universities and other institutions of higher education (see 13 C.F.R. § 300.3).
 - Non-profit organizations are required to act in cooperation with officials of general purpose units of local government with jurisdiction over the project area.
 - Individuals and for-profit businesses are not eligible for EDA assistance, with the exception of Research and Technical Assistance grants
- The area benefitting from a proposed EDA Public Works or Economic Adjustment project must also meet regional eligibility criteria
 - EDA determines regional eligibility for a Public Works or an Economic Adjustment Assistance investment based on the unemployment rate, per capita income, or a special need in the region in which the project will be located.

EDA's Funding Priorities

Funding priority will be given to investment applications that support:

- Long-term, coordinated, and collaborative regional economic development approaches
- Innovation and competitiveness
- Entrepreneurship
- Strategies and investments that connect regional economies with the worldwide marketplace

Additional consideration will be given to investment applications that:

- Respond to sudden and severe economic dislocations, including natural disasters
- Enable the transition of Base Closure and Realignment (BRAC)-impacted communities
- Support Executive Order 13287, Preserve America
- Promote the revitalization of brownfields

EDA's Application Forms

- A copy of the organization's Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws
- Certificate of good standing from the state
- Resolution/letter from a general purpose subdivision of government of a state acknowledging that the organization is acting in cooperation with officials of that subdivision

Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS)

- A CEDS is a strategy that meets the requirements of 13 C.F.R. § 303.7.
- Public Works and Economic Adjustment Assistance projects funded by EDA must be consistent with a CEDS (or other strategy) approved by EDA for the region in which the project will be located.
- The CEDS ensures sound and continuous planning and coordination of public and private sectors in response to local needs and economic development objectives.
- For most grants, the application must show how the project will address the regional economic development needs and objectives outlined in the CEDS.

Two Most Frequently Asked Questions

Q: How long does it take for EDA to review an application?

A: EDA will notify applicants regarding whether their applications have been selected for further consideration as soon as practicable. The time may vary depending on the time of the year and the number of applications submitted to the Regional Office for funding consideration.

Q: Does EDA require a non-federal share?

A: Generally, the amount of the EDA grant does not exceed 50% of the total cost of the project; amounts over 50% depend upon relative distress factors. Cash or in-kind contributions may provide the non-federal share requirement of the total project cost. Examples of non-federal sources include applicant contributions, state and local grants and loans, general obligation bonds, and other public and private contributions. In-kind contributions may consist of assumptions of debt or contributions of space, equipment and services determined by EDA to be eligible project costs.
